RACING AT GRAVESEND.

TWO OF THE FAVORITES SUCCESSFUL.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE AND MANY AGREEABLE FEATURES OF THE SPORT.

So many people went to the Brooklyn Jockey Chub's track yesterday, and the sport of the after-noon was carried on with so much which was pleasant and enjoyable, that the unselfish supporters of the turf had every reason for satisfaction. The new system is working so smoothly and acceptably that no just cause for serious fault-finding can be discovered by the most irritable and peevish of

The news that John A. Morris was seriously sick at his Texas ranch, made a stir at the racecourse. Mr. Morris was overcome by an apoplectic stroke early on Friday morning. He was stricken at about 6 o'clock. He was at his Texas farm, an enormous property of many thousands of acres, about sixty miles north of San Antonio, near Kerr-ville. His wife and his elder son, Alfred Hennen Morris, left this city for Texas on Friday as soon as possible after receiving the telegraphic advices of his illness. Later reports from Kerrville gave the information that Mr. Morris was resting comfortably, and that his condition showed signs of im-provement. Mr. Morris is nearly sixty years of age. It is expected that he will recover from this attack. If he had been supposed to be in serious peril, all the entries from the Morris Stable would have been withdrawn yesterday. But Prig, Mirage and Intermission ran in the Morris colors, and therefore the friends of the Morrises, who were at the Gravesend races, took heart of grace, and expected the early recovery of the owner of Morris Park. The general hope and anticipation are that he may

Is any one in the lockey Club able to put two and two together about Rey El Santa Anita? Of course, there are exceptions to every rule, and possibly Rey El Santa Anita is as hones: a horse as can be found in any country of the globe. But he is capricious. So much must inevitably be admitted Can the turf in these unsound and uncertain times afford to be afflicted with capricious horses." Taral Rey El Santa Anita yesterday. So the riding was all right But If Rey El Santa Anita were ruled off the turf for capriciousness, the turf would be a gainer. The turf has too many enemies in these days to endure with safety the enemies in these days to endure with safety the burden of such a horse as Rey El Santa Anita is. ought to be ruled off without delay

Applaum, the favorite, ran second in the first which was won very easily by Pierre Lordlard's filly Liza. Applause is a nervous creature, and the long delay at the post made her almost frantie. James Rowe is an amiable and well-meaning starter, but he does not control the Rowe ought to be made Clerk of the Court of Chancery of New-Jersey. Kennel, ridder by James Lamley, ran a distressing race, and was unplaced. In his previous races at this meeting Kennel had run creditably. Yesterday he was defeated by Belmar, April Fool, Sue Kittle and Mirage, and the time was slow, although the track w.s. fast.

Now it may be that Phillip J. Dwyer is entirely satisfied with his trainer and with his jockey, J. Lamley, when Kennel runs such a peculiar race, Kennel heing a tremendous favorite. But it ought not to be forgotten that James Lamley was trained as a jockey by William C. Daly, one of the most objectionable and disreputable persons who ever ran horses on any conspicuous, important and celebrated racetrack in the whole world. Daly has been twice ruled off the turf, and he ought never to have been taken back.

This is a time for plain speaking and no nonsense. James Lamley rode the overwhelming favorite Kennel in queer style. No queer riding ought to be permitted this year. It will be impossible for the turf to flourish if any queer riding is allowed to pass with immunity. The American turf has had altogether too much queer training, queer riding, queer runing and ouger heting in mast teason.

to flourish if any queer riding is allowed to pass with immunity. The American turf has had altogether too much queer training, queer riding, queer running and queer betting in past seasons. It is time to put a stop to those things altogether.

Taking all things into account, James Lamley ought to be riding at Hoby, or at the Corrigan track, or the Hankins track—not at Gravesend.

Go West, young man: go West!

Taral won the first race on the first day of the meeting with Domino. After that victory he wore the sere and yellow leaf of ill-luck until he rode Belmar to success in the Preakness Stakes yesterday. In the first race of yesterday he was on Beldemere, and that nervous filly Applause kicked him twice in the foot.

NOTES BY TURF OBSERVERS. WHAT THEY TALK ABOUT IN REGARD TO RAC-

ING MATTERS. Kinglet encountered a serious accident at Sheepshead Bay yesterday. His wind has been affected for several months. In his work yesterday Mr. Hyland, the trainer, instructed the boy who rode Kinglet to send him a mile at three-quarters speed.

At the three-quarter milepost Kinglet turned a complete somersault, and bled profusely from the nostrils. When some of the spectators ran up the boy and the horse were streaked with blood. Kinglet revived in a few minutes and was led back o the stable. It is a serious loss to the Gideon & Daly stable, as the horse had been scoring good Frederick Littlefield is rapidly recovering from the shock caused by his fall on Thursday. The injury to his collar-bone is likely to keep him out of the saddle for several weeks. Certain well-informed turfmen at the track remarked yesterday that some lawyers were arranging for a lest case of the Gray law at Flushing on Friday afternoon. The result of the reports was that bettors were under the strictest watchfulness and nobody was permitted to expose private memorandums of the It was reported that Peter Deprevailing odds. Lacey was behind the lawyers who were preparing the Flushing case. De Lacey's friends condemned his action. Some of them said emphatically that the former poolroom dictator had paid large sums to the firm of lawyers who arranged his test case and filed briefs for him.

The opening matines of the Parkway Driving Club, which was postponed a week ago on account of the poor condition of the track, took place yesterday.
